Hemp (Cannabis sativa) has been used for several millennia, with some samples dating as far back as 10000 BC where it was cultivated for its use as a fiber to make various ropes and textiles. Hemp extracts are used to promote a normal inflammatory response. BotanIQ's Hemp contains both a full-spectrum USDA Organic extract in combination with specific hemp isolates to yield 5mgs of active cannabinoids per serving. We've taken the best parts of technology and combined them with the best parts of nature to create a fully transparent, yet functional product that delivers results without compromising quality.
